Odds Offered on Scheme of
P. H. Lannan to Reduce Weight.

How Members of Alta Club Greeted Well-Known Citizen After First Day's Stunt.

P. H. Lannan is letting some of his intimate friends in on a "get-rich-quick" scheme of which he is the inventor and sole owner.

"Why be poor," says Mr. Lannan, "when you can win all sorts of money by betting that my weight will be reduced to 150 pounds within the next three months. As I get poor you get rich. Why, it is the simplest thing you ever heard of. I do all the work; you get the benefit. A man that would balk on a proposition of that kind ought to work with a pick and shovel the rest of his days. Give odds, if necessary." It must be confessed that the merits of the scheme do not always commend themselves to Mr. Lannan's friends. Skeptics have been known to gaze on his rotund figure and ask incredulously:

How He Does It.

"But how are you going to do it?" "Sssh!" whispers Mr. Lannan; "I'm in training."

"I see," suggests the friend. "Gone back to tea and toast once a day. You've tried that before, Pat."

"Tea and toast, nothing," retorts Mr. Lannan, in disgust. "That is all nonsense. My trainer says so. 'Mr. Lannan,' he tells me, 'eat anything you want to.' But that will make me fat. I argue, 'Do as I tell you,' says my trainer, for he is one of those masterful chaps. So I do. I take the bill-of-fare and if I happen to miss anything I go back after it. It's strength you need," says my trainer, "you have to eat to get strength." And he is right about it.

Handy at Punching Bag.

"When I first went into the Alta club gymnasium I couldn't punch the bag more than ten or twelve times. My heart would be clear up in my mouth and I would be all out of breath. Now I can punch it," and Mr. Lannan strikes out viciously with both fists, "200 times—without feeling tired."

"Then I put on the gloves with my trainer. I tell you, he is a good man with the gloves. Would you believe it, I haven't knocked him down once? I am not very shifty on my feet yet, but I am improving."

Two or three days ago Mr. Lannan did his first walking stunt. His trainer wrapped him from the hips to the throat in burlap, then made him put on his shirt, a sweater and a coat. When the professor called for an overcoat Mr. Lannan remonstrated.

Puts on the Overcoat.

"I think I can walk fast enough to keep warm without an overcoat. Don't bother about carriages or a hot-water bag. I am not cold-blooded."

"Put on that coat!" said the trainer in his most convincing manner.

Mr. Lannan put it on and turned the collar up to his ears.

"You feel all right, don't you?" asked the professor.

"Oh, y-yes," was the meek reply. They left the gymnasium through the alley, traversed back yards and climbed over coal-boxes until they were safely out of the city. "I don't want the boys at the club to see me now," explained Mr. Lannan. As he trudged up City creek he was more than once tempted to unbutton the overcoat, but a furtive glance at the cold, gray eye of his trainer subdued the inclination.

Alta Club's Welcome.

In some mysterious way the jaunt was reported at the Alta club, and when the trainer and his pupil attempted to sneak in the way they had gone out they found a score of the club members on hand to give them an enthusiastic welcome. The flag had been raised over the building and the orchestra was playing on the balcony.

Mr. Lannan recognized the tune as "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp! the Boys Are Marching." His friends greeted him with outstretched hands.

"Come into the kitchen," they urged. "You will find a nice warm fire in the range. Here, waiter! bring Mr. Lannan a hot cup of coffee." A signal was made and the band struck up "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town."

"I don't care," Mr. Lannan was heard to remark, a short time afterward. "I lost three pounds and a half today."

Court Notes.

Suit to quiet title to a piece of property and to recover $300 alleged to be due for rent was filed in the District court yesterday by Mary Holstrom against Isaac Rhodus.

For injuries sustained by slipping on an oilied hardwood floor and stairway Marie Y. Pickett yesterday filed suit to recover $2500 against the Southern Pacific company by Wade H. Ross. The plaintiff alleges that on March 12, 1904, when in the employ of the company as a boiler-maker in its shops at Tecoma, Nev., he was struck by an engine, through the carelessness of the engineer, having been knocked down and badly bruised, his back injured and his foot so badly crushed that it became necessary to amputate the great toe. Ross claims that in the course of performing his duties he was walking in the Tecoma yards when the engine ran him down, no warning having been given of its approach by the ringing of the bell or blowing of the whistle.

restrained from drawing $2000 on deposit in Zion's Savings bank pending the trial of the suit. The plaintiff prays for attorney in the sum of $1000.

Two foreigners were admitted to citizenship by Judge Morse in the District court yesterday. The oath of allegiance to the United States was taken by John E. Eriksson, late of Gothenburg, Sweden, and by Gertrude C. Johnson, late of Dræmnen, Norway.

Suit was filed in the District court yesterday by John A. Odin against N. R. Waterman and E. D. Waterman to quiet title to the following property: All or lot 2, block 1, West Boulevard subdivision of lot 17, 18 and 19, block 23, five-acre plat A, Big Field survey.

Still another damage suit against the Utah Light and Railway company was filed in the District court yesterday. The plaintiff in this case is Etta S. Reed and she asks for $200 damages for personal injuries. The complaint recites that the plaintiff was standing in the street at Fifth East and Second South streets when struck by a car and violently thrown to the ground. The defendant is charged with negligence and carelessness, it being alleged that the motorman omitted to sound his gong or otherwise give warning of the car's approach. The plaintiff claims to have been badly bruised about the face and body. This is the fourth action for damages that has been brought against the street railway company since last Thursday.

Suit for $20,000 damages for personal injuries was brought in the Federal court yesterday against the Southern Pacific company by Wade H. Ross. The plaintiff alleges that on March 12, 1904, when in the employ of the company as a boiler-maker in its shops at Tecoma, Nev., he was struck by an engine, through the carelessness of the engineer, having been knocked down and badly bruised, his back injured and his foot so badly crushed that it became necessary to amputate the great toe. Ross claims that in the course of performing his duties he was walking in the Tecoma yards when the engine ran him down, no warning having been given of its approach by the ringing of the bell or blowing of the whistle.

DEAD IN HER ROOM.

Woman Believed to Reside in Washington Commits Suicide.

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—The dead body of a fashionably dressed woman was found in a room of the Hotel Milton today, where she registered July 7 as "Mrs. M. Smith, New York."

Two empty bottles were found by the side of the bed. One had contained some drug that has not yet been identified, and the other alcohol.

From statements made by the Rev. Allen F. Smith, rector of Christ's church cathedral, to whom the woman is said to have confided to some extent, her correct name is Mrs. M. K. Daniels. The woman told the Rev. Smith that her mother's name is Mrs. Martha Wiggins and that she lives in Washington, D. C. She refused to give her reason for using an assumed name.

GREAT STRIKE THREATENED.

Seven Thousand Teamsters in New York May Walk Out.

NEW YORK, July 11.—This city is again threatened with a general strike of seven thousand teamsters against the New York Truck Owners' association. An agreement for one year was entered only recently. It is now charged by the teamsters that the truck owners are deliberately violating the agreement, and that some of them wish to provoke a general strike.

Several strikers are scheduled for today against individual employers in Manhattan and it is declared a general strike will be ordered at once against every member of the Truck Owners' association if any of its members try to assist truck owners whose employees are out.

The Dinner Pail

Of the American working man is generally well filled. In some cases it is too well filled. It contains too many of the wrong kind—hard to digest and containing little nutrition.

As a consequence many a working-man develops some form of stomach trouble which interferes with his health and reduces his working capacity.

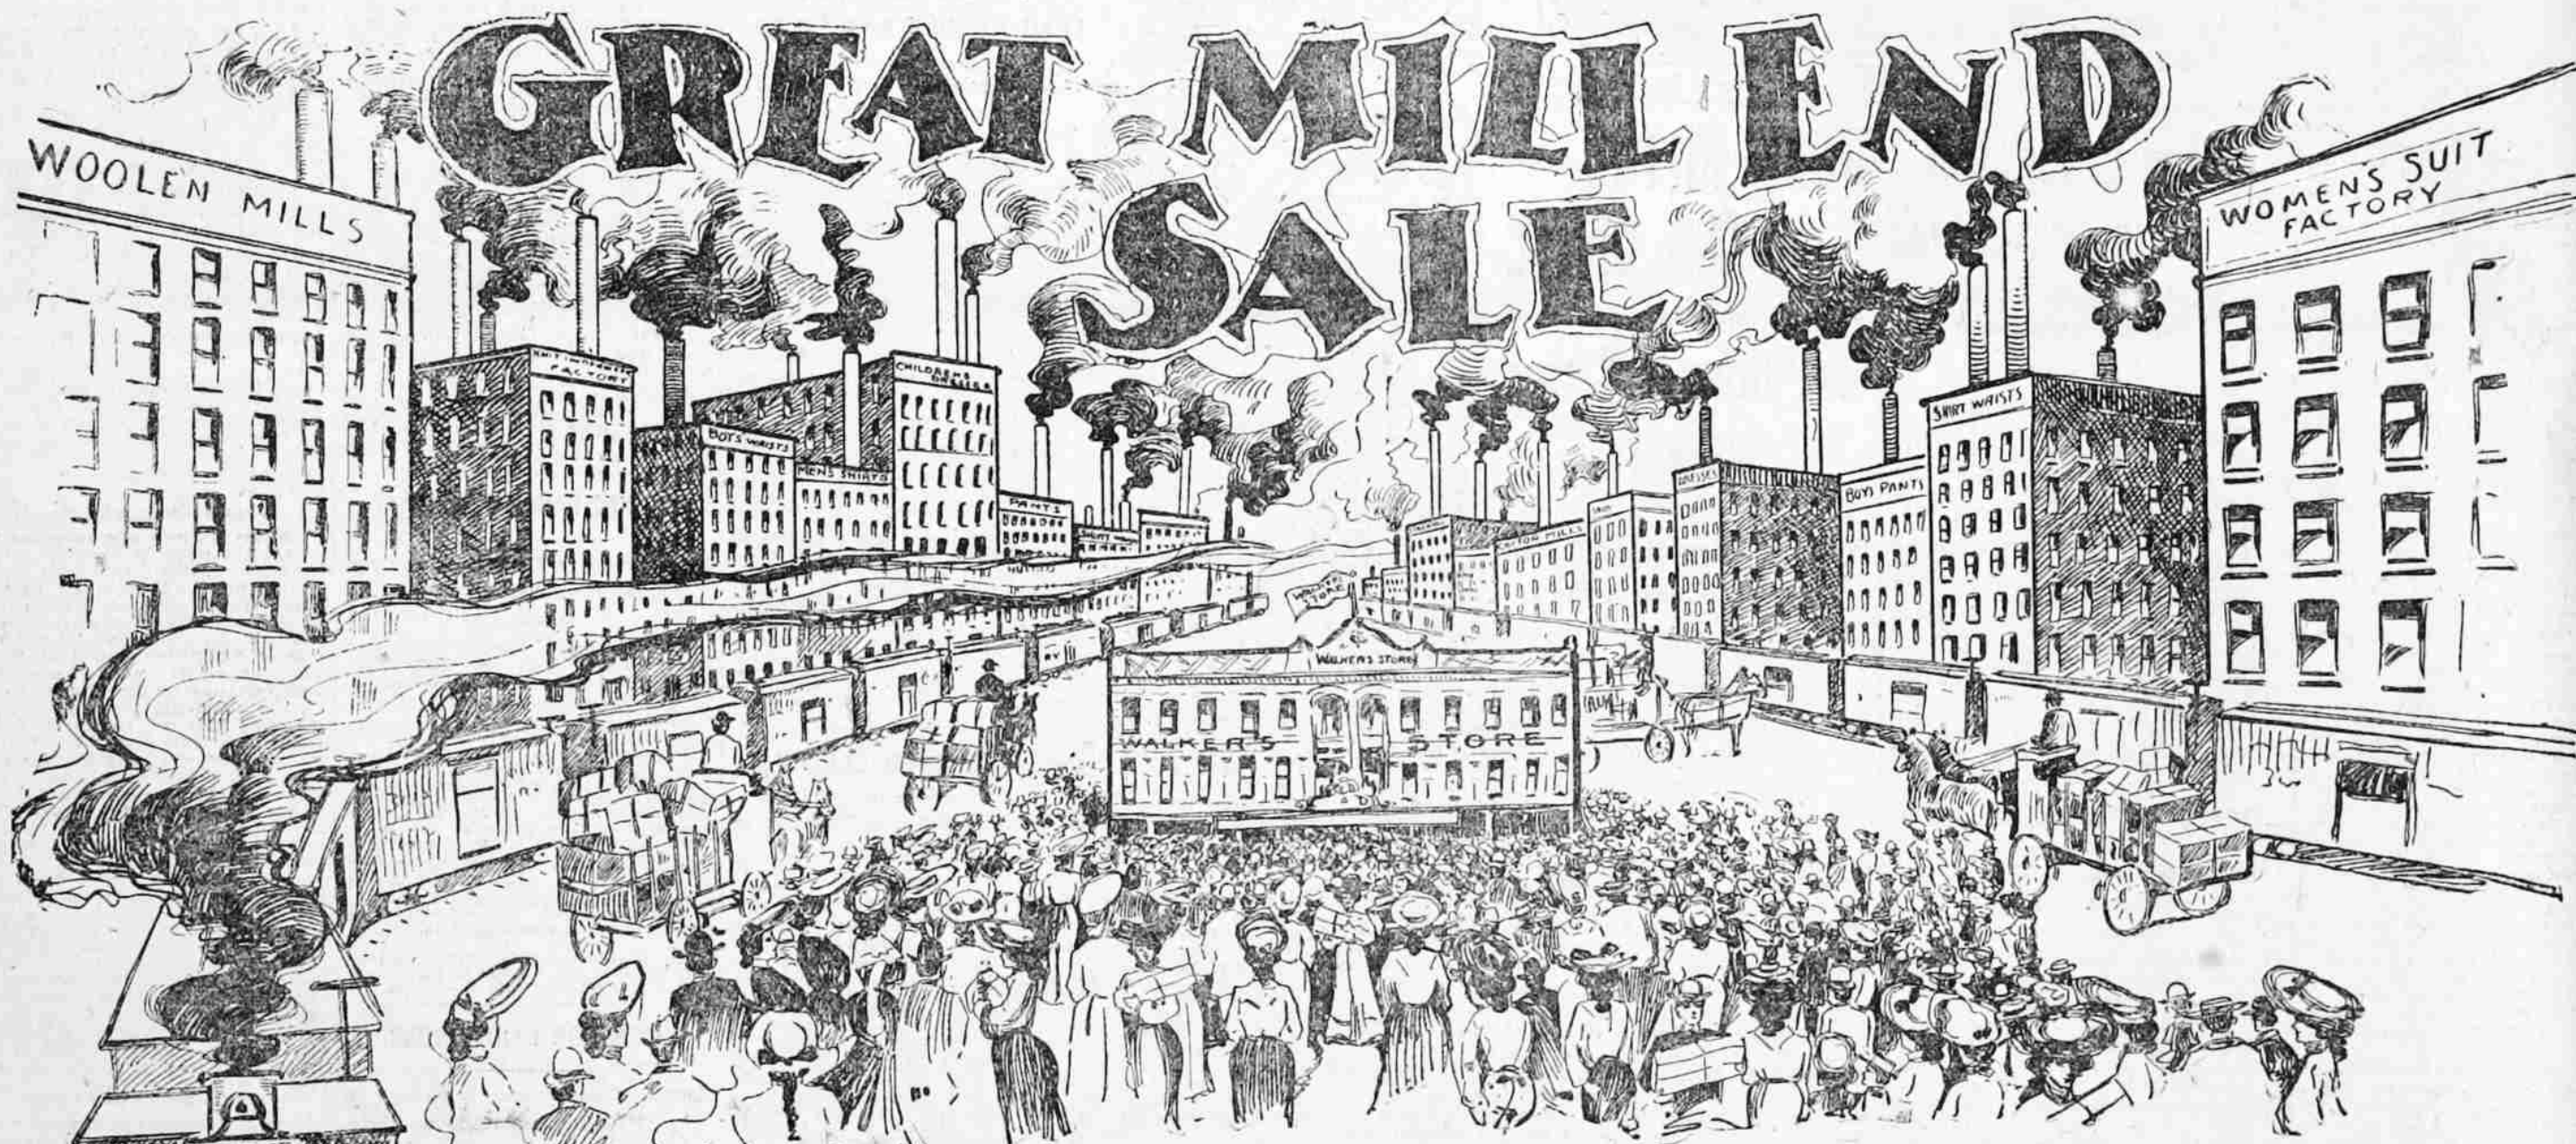

Where there is indigestion or any other indication of disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition, the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will almost invariably produce a perfect and permanent cure.

Mr. Thomas A. Swartz, of Salt Station, C. Columbus, O., Box 101, writes: "I was taken with severe headache, then cramps in the stomach, and my feet would not digest, then kidney and liver trouble and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. At last I had all the complaints at once, the more I doctor the worse I got until six years passed. I had become so poorly I could only walk in the house by the aid of a chair, and I got so thin I had gone to die, thinking that I could not be cured. Then one of my neighbors said, 'Take my advice and take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself.' The first bottle helped me so I thought I would get another and after I had taken eight bottles, I was about six weeks, I was weighed, and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) pounds. I am as stout and healthy to-day, I think, as I ever was."
